IL FASCISMO

From Boston: In LIFE (May 27, 1940) I read: "Il Fascismo is Italy's guiding star." Who is Il Fascismo; Mussolini? E.D.

Answer: No. Il Fascismo is not a person; it is the Italian name for Fascism, or the Fascist party in control of the government of Italy. Italians speak of all Fascismo in much the same manner as Americans use the term Democracy.

Il rhymes with feel. The first syllable of Fascismo rhymes with bah; the second syllable rhymes with gesse; the third syllable rhymes with toe.

Correct pronunciation:

cel fah-SHEES-moe

(Capitals indicate syllables to be accented.)

Question: What is the crazy word Professor Colona keeps saying that sounds like indu- something or other? L.R.

Answer: The word is a perfectly good adverb—indubitably. It means "unquestionably; undeniably; surely."

How to use the word: "Is this statement correct? Yes, indubitably."

Correct pronunciation:

in-DYOO-bit-uh-blee

(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

KOOL KOTTON

Sleek, smart and comfortable, this number is worn by Miss Alice Beasley, 1941 "Maid of Cotton." It is a plaid chambray jacket dress designed for warm weather use, with a circular full pleated skirt and fitted jacket. Collar and sleeves of plain material form an interesting contrast.

Traps Jap Spy

Al D. Blake, navy yeoman, actor, stunt man and show window "Mechanical Man" known as "Keeno the King of the Robots." Blake is generally credited with the counter-espionage work which led to the arrest of a Japanese naval officer, charged with an attempt to obtain U. S. military secrets. Authorities are seeking a woman, said to be involved with the Japanese officer, who previously was Charlie Chaplin's secretary.

Attics Give Up Gifts for Briton

Materials of All Sorts Are Donated by Americans To Help in War.

LONDON—A look at the list of gifts to Britain's evacuees, bomb victims and members of the army, navy and Royal Air force reveals that a lot of American attics have been cleared during the last year—all to the benefit of men and women who are fighting Britain's war.

Leaders of the English-Speaking Union, which has been co-operating with the American branch of the organization as well as with other United States charitable organizations in collecting clothing and materials of every description to aid the war effort, said that only very rarely has they been sent gifts which could not be used by someone somewhere.

What might have been Uncle Ned's old cornet which looked like it had been kicked around in an attic for many years, now is doing duty in an army band which lost all its instruments in the evacuation of Dunkirk. Junior's football, which he left in the basement when he went to college, might now be doing service on a field near a Canadian encampment where American volunteers are teaching their British mates the rudiments of the game.

Many Garments Sent.

More than 65,000 garments and thousands of other gifts have been received from all over the United States. Most of the garments are hand-knitted stockings, sweaters, gloves and mufflers. They represent an enormous amount of knitting, purling and stitching by thousands of women in America.

Gifts have been received from Colorado mountain towns, from Chicago, Milwaukee, Roanoke, Va., New England, Cleveland, Cincinnati and California. Some of these are marked "To the men serving on the 50 United States destroyers" which were granted in the air base exchange. Others are designated for the men of the coastal patrol life saving service or the Royal Air force. But most of them are just sent to be distributed where they are most needed.

Besides the gifts of garments, Americans have sent more than $3,000 in cash to the union as well as 14 American ambulances, money for first-aid mobile posts, one complete surgical unit, a mobile feeding post and mountains of Red Cross and hospital supplies.

Offers of Homes.

Not the least important has been the offers of hundreds of homes in the United States to care for British children for the duration of the war.

"The American gifts have been more wonderful than it is possible to imagine," one organization official said. "The clothing is always freshly cleaned and the people in the United States seem to have a second sight when it comes to giving things.

"Whenever we need little girls' dresses, or sturdy trousers for boys, or shoes for bombed firemen or layettes for babies—in fact, about anything possible to imagine, we know we usually can get them being the next shipment. They usually are."

These gifts served immensurably in brightening the lives of the fighting forces as well as the evacuees and persons who have lost their homes. Dolls, toys, magazines, books, pipe and pipe cleaners, bandages, tennis racquets, cricket bats all have been distributed from the American donations. Cigarettes, tobacco, candy, cookies and even fruitcakes and cookies which could be safely shipped without spoiling have been sent.

Concrete Made With Mica Base Proves Versatile

RALEIGH, N. C.—Concrete that can be sliced with a handsaw and punctured with an ordinary driven nail is being tested by the ceramics department of North Carolina State college.

During the recent Engineers fair at the college, William A. Scholes, ceramics research engineer, demonstrated the new material's versatility by several tests with ordinary carpenter's tools.

Scholes drove several nails into a block of the new concrete, which is made with vermiculite instead of sand. The block didn't split and the nails didn't bend.

He then sawed it into small sections with a handsaw. There were no cracks and the edges were smooth.

Scholes, conducting experiments with the new material for the Tennessee Valley Authority, hopes the vermiculite product will come into widespread use for building low-cost pre-fabricated houses.

Short Wedding Gowns; No Lapels in Italy

ROME—The Fascist Fashion corporation said that in view of the wartime shortage of cloth, wedding gowns with trains must be considered in bad taste.

The corporation also said that men's suits without lapels would be the style this summer. Double-breasted coats were forbidden as a waste of material.

BLACK—BEASLEY

Of interest in this section was the marriage of Miss Dorothy Drinkard Beasley, daughter of Mrs. Cornelius Walker Beasley and the late Mr. Beasley, of Williamson, W. Va., to Cary Stafford Black, of Sinks Grove, W. Va., which was solemnized Friday afternoon at Greenland Farm, the home of the bride's uncle, Dr. W. A. Drinkard, on the Millrook Road, near Raleigh, N. C. The Rev. A. Leslie Thompson, of Raleigh, officiated. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Black left by motor for an extended trip to Miami Beach, and other points in Florida. They will make their home upon their return, in Williamson. Thursday evening the bridal party was entertained at dinner in the home of Mrs. Drury Rogers Green and the Misses Nettie and Mollie Drinkard, aunts of the bride.

MRS. MAE CHRISTIAN BARRET

Funeral services were conducted July 11 for Mrs. Mae Christian Barrett, 22, wife of Allen E. Barrett, of Indianapolis. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'rien, of Appomattox. She was a member of L'berty Baptist church here. Interment was in Washington Park cemetery, there. She is survived by her husband, her parents, three sisters, Mrs. Joseph Thralls, of Indianapolis, Miss Judy O'Brien and Mrs. Grover Childress, of Appomattox; four brothers, Carrol O'Brien, of Rock Hill, S. C., Nathan O'Brien, of New York; Davis and Clem O'Brien, of Appomattox.

We extend deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

County Gave 1,225 Pounds of Aluminum

A total of 1,225 pounds of aluminum was given by the people of Appomattox, considerably above the county's revised quota of 750 pounds, in the special campaign just ended. The aluminum has been turned over to the State Highway Department for hauling and sorting, on orders from the government. After it has been melted down, it will be used for national defense.

Since the campaign is over, and the aluminum has been turned over to the government, no further gifts of aluminum can be handled at the present time.

Every section of Appomattox county responded eagerly to the appeal of the government for aluminum to further defense industry.

A special truck made a round-up of collections at 14 assembly points in the county last Saturday, and found large piles at each place. The bin placed on Main Street here was filled each day last week after Monday, and drew sustained interest. It compared favorably with those in much larger localities.

The unmistakable deduction from the campaign, is that the rank and file of the people of this country want America to be strong and prepared NOW for whatever eventualities may come, and are ready to back up their desire with deeds.

Garden Club Plans Picnic

The Appomattox Garden Club will have its annual picnic at Holliday Lake, Friday, August 8, with supper served at 7:30 P. M. Members will be notified what to bring, and it is hoped that they will invite their families and friends and make the outing a community affair.

The hour for dining was chosen to permit early comers to swim or boat ride before the meal, and to enable those working to have plenty of time to come for supper.

The committee in charge of the picnic is composed of Mrs. C. S. Jenkins, chairman; Mrs. H. Frederick Jones, Mrs. Evrod Conner, Mrs. Clara C. Davis, Mrs. Tom Collins, Mrs. LeRoy Smith, and Mrs. Barry Dahl.

This announcement is made early hoping to insure a large attendance and full cooperation of each member.

To Show Free Movie on Coal

Next Tuesday evening, following the regular monthly meeting of the Appomattox Ruritan Club, a free motion picture entitled, The Power Behind the Nation, will be shown in the local school auditorium. The film is being shown under the auspices of the Ruritan Club by the Norfolk and Western Railway.

The showing of this interesting educational film will begin at 8 P. M.

It's theme is the story of coal, from its mining straight through its delivery and use in homes and in industry.

It is hoped that there will be a large attendance at this feature.

Primary Election Tuesday

With nearly 1,700 eligible voters, Appomattox county is expected to cast between 1,000 and 1,200 votes in next Tuesday's primary election, at which time Democratic candidates will be nominated for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for getting mail vote applications, and it is understood that the number of absentee ballots here will be most satisfactory. Likewise, quite a number of new and transfer voters have registered.

Informative ballots and letters to voters are being mailed out here this week-end in an effort to arouse last minute interest in what otherwise has been a very, very quiet pre-election campaign.

There are three candidates for Governor: Colgate W. Darden, Jr., of Norfolk; Vivian I. Page, of Norfolk, and S. Hunsdon Cary, of Richmond. Of the three, it is generally conceded that Mr. Darden will be the overwhelming choice of the Democrats of the Old Dominion. He has the support of leading political workers in every section of Virginia, and although his opponents have campaigned vigorously, they have failed to line up support to indicate that they have a remote chance of nomination. Mr. Page is on an auto tour of Southwest Virginia as the campaign, and Mr. Cary has sought to arouse interest in his own candidacy by making charges that Mr. Darden is the hand-picked candidate of United States Senator Harry Floood Byrd.

However, the primary approaches with virtually all groups in the State supporting Mr. Darden. He has the support of the so-called organization leaders and at the support of such men as ex-Governor Westmoreland Davis and John. W. Flannagan. It is expected that Mr. Darden will win by a plurality of 125,000 votes.

The result in Appomattox county is expected to be a landslide for Mr. Darden.

Likewise, State Senator William M. Tuck, of Halifax is the odds-on favorite for Lieutenant-Governor. In fact his plurality will probably exceed that of Mr. Darden. His sole opponent is Mose W. Plunkett, of Roanoke.

Attorney-General Abram P. Staples, and Delegate John B. Boatwright have no opposition and have been declared the nominees, and their names, therefore, will not appear on the ballot.

The eligible voters of Appomattox county are urged to exercise their franchise next Tuesday and cast their ballots.

TO CONDUCT REVIVAL

Dr. John W. Kinchloe, pastor of the First Baptist church of Rocky Mount, N. C., will be the guest minister of Liberty Baptist church, Appomattox, during the annual revival meeting, which begins the second Sunday in August. Dr. Kinchloe is a distinguished minister, and has been pastor of his present church for over twenty years. The church is one of the largest and most liberal of the churches in the South. Dr. Kinchloe and his son, Dr. William Kinchloe, have both held revival meetings here before and a gracious welcome awaits Dr. Kinchloe. The people of the town and county are invited to work and worship with Liberty church during this series of meetings.
